113TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. R. 419

To strengthen and clarify the commercial, cultural, and other relations between the people of the United States and the people of Taiwan, as codified in the Taiwan Relations Act, and for other purposes.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

JANUARY 25, 2013

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN (for herself, Mr. STRES, Mr. DIAZ-BALART, Mr. CONNOLLY, and Mr. CARTER) introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and in addition to the Committee on Ways and Means, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned

A BILL

To strengthen and clarify the commercial, cultural, and other relations between the people of the United States and the people of Taiwan, as codified in the Taiwan Relations Act, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This Act may be cited as the “Taiwan Policy Act of 5 2013”.

1 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

2 Congress finds the following:

3 (1) The Taiwan Relations Act (Public Law 96–
4 8; 22 U.S.C. 3301 et seq.), enacted in 1979, has
5 continued for 34 years to be the cornerstone of
6 United States–Taiwan relations and has served as
7 an anchor for peace and security in the Western Pa-
8 cific region.

9 (2) The Taiwan Relations Act, in furthering the
10 national interests of the United States in the West-
11 ern Pacific region, has mandated that the United
12 States will make available to Taiwan such defense
13 articles and defense services in such quantity as may
14 be necessary to enable Taiwan to maintain a suffi-
15 cient self-defense capability, thus allowing the people
16 of Taiwan to preserve a peaceful, democratic, and
17 prosperous way of life.

18 (3) The future of Taiwan must be determined
19 in a peaceful manner and with the assent of the peo-
20 ple of Taiwan.

21 (4) The Taiwan Relations Act declares that—

22 (A) peace and stability in the Western Pa-
23 cific area are in the political, security, and eco-
24 nomic interests of the United States, and are
25 matters of international concern;

1 (B) the United States decision to establish
2 diplomatic relations with the People's Republic
3 of China rests upon the expectation that the fu-
4 ture of Taiwan will be determined by peaceful
5 means;

6 (C) the United States considers any effort
7 to determine the future of Taiwan by other
8 than peaceful means, including by boycotts or
9 embargoes, a threat to the peace and security
10 of the Western Pacific area and of grave con-
11 cern to the United States;

12 (D) the United States will maintain the ca-
13 pacity to resist any resort to force or other
14 forms of coercion that would jeopardize the se-
15 curity, or the social or economic system, of the
16 people on Taiwan; and

17 (E) the preservation and enhancement of
18 the human rights of all the people on Taiwan
19 are reaffirmed as objectives of the United
20 States.

21 (5) In recent years United States–Taiwan rela-
22 tions have suffered from inattention and lack of 23 strategic vision, thereby requiring the Congress to 24 both clarify United States policy toward Taiwan and

1 enhance its oversight role in the implementation of 2 the Taiwan Relations Act.

3 (6) In its China Military Power Report for
4 2012, Taiwan's Ministry of National Defense
5 (MND) estimated that more than 1,600 ballistic and
6 cruise missiles are now being aimed at Taiwan by
7 the Second Artillery Corps of the People's Republic
8 of China and other experts suggest that this number
9 could increase to 1,800 in the near future.

10 (7) The anti-secession law, passed by the Na-
11 tional People's Congress of the People's Republic of
12 China, was found by House Concurrent Resolution
13 98, passed in the House of Representatives on
14 March 16, 2005, by a vote of 424-4, "to create a
15 legal framework for possible use of force against
16 Taiwan" and "to provide a legal justification for the
17 use of force against Taiwan, altering the status quo
18 in the region, and thus is of grave concern to the 19 United States."

20 (8) The legislative requirement to make avail-
21 able defense articles and defense services should in-
22 clude the provision of new F-16 C/D aircraft and
23 upgrades of existing F-16 A/B aircraft essential to 24 Taiwan's security.

1 (9) The 2012 Department of Defense’s Annual
2 Report to Congress on Military and Security Devel-
3 opments Involving the People’s Republic of China
4 noted that “preparing for contingencies in the Tai-
5 wan Strait remains the principal focus and driver of
6 much of China’s military investment. In this context,
7 over the past year, the [People’s Liberation Army]
8 continued to build the capabilities and develop the
9 doctrine it considers necessary to deter Taiwan from
10 declaring independence; to deter, delay, and deny ef-
11 fective U.S. intervention in a potential cross-Strait
12 conflict; and to defeat Taiwan forces in the event of 13 hostilities.”.

14 (10) The language contained in the Joint
15 Communiqué of the United States of America and
16 the People’s Republic of China, dated August 17,
17 1982, which states in part that “arms sales to Tai-
18 wan will not exceed, either in qualitative or in quan-
19 titative terms, the level of those supplied in recent
20 years” shall not, to any degree, diminish the respon-
21 sibility of the United States, as legislatively man-
22 dated in the Taiwan Relations Act, to “make avail-
23 able to Taiwan such defense articles and defense
24 services in such quantity as may be necessary to en-

1 able Taiwan to maintain a sufficient self-defense ca-
2 pability.”.

3 (11) The United States has sought diplomati-
4 cally to preserve Taiwan’s international space, de-
5 spite outside pressure and coercion, and has sought
6 to secure Taiwan’s meaningful participation in such
7 international organizations as the World Health Or-
8 ganization (WHO).

9 (12) Given the critical importance of airport se-
10 curity in a post-September 11th international envi-
11 ronment, the United States recognizes it is crucial
12 for Taiwan to be admitted to meaningful participa-
13 tion in the International Civil Aviation Organization
14 (ICAO) so that Taiwan may contribute to the suc-
15 cess of a global strategy to address aviation security
16 threats based on effective international cooperation.

17 (13) Recognizing that the Taiwan Relations Act
18 stated that it is the policy of the United States “to
19 preserve and promote extensive, close, and friendly
20 commercial, cultural, and other relations between
21 the people of the United States and the people on 22 Taiwan” the Secretary of Homeland Security an-
23 nounced on October 2, 2012, “the designation of 24 Taiwan into the Visa Waiver Program (VWP)” with

1 eligible Taiwan passport holders able to travel on the
2 VWP beginning November 1, 2012.

3 (14) The conclusion of the Economic Coopera-
4 tion Framework Agreement (ECFA) between Tai-
5 wan and the People's Republic of China in June
6 2010 or the adoption of any other cross-Straits eco-
7 nomic measures shall not diminish in any degree the 8 requirement contained in the Act to "maintain the 9 capacity of the United States to resist any resort to 10 force or other forms of coercion that would jeop-
11 ardize the security, or the social or economic system,
12 of the people on Taiwan."

13 (15) The theory recently put forward in certain
14 academic circles that the United States should ac-
15 quiesce to China's ascendancy in Asia and put aside
16 the commitments made in the Taiwan Relations Act
17 is based upon a false premise that ignores the exam-
18 ple of a democratic Taiwan, the historic ties of 19 friendship of the peoples of the United States and 20 Taiwan, and the determination of the United States
21 to remain as a Pacific power.

22 (16) Total United States-Taiwan trade in 2011
23 was $67,200,000,000 and Taiwan was the 10th
24 largest United States trading partner and the 6th

1 largest market for United States agricultural ex-
2 ports.

3 (17) It is in the economic interests of the
4 United States and the national security interests of 5 Taiwan for the peoples of the United States and 6 Taiwan to further strengthen and revitalize their
7 trade and investment ties, including through an ex-
8 panded Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) Agreement
9 or similar mechanism.

10 SEC. 3. RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.

11 Nothing in this Act shall be construed to amend or
12 supersede the Taiwan Relations Act.

14 SEC. 101. RELATIONS WITH THE PEOPLE OF TAIWAN.

15 The following shall be the policies of the United
16 States:

17 (1) Supporting Taiwan, Taiwan's democracy,
18 and the human rights of its people.

19 (2) As noted in the Taiwan Relations Act, "the
20 absence of diplomatic relations or recognition shall
21 not affect the application of the laws of the United
22 States with respect to Taiwan, and the laws of the 23 United States shall apply with respect to Taiwan in
24 the manner that the laws of the United States ap-

1 plied with respect to Taiwan prior to January 1,
2 1979.”.

3 (3) The United States Government shall respect
4 the right of the Taipei Economic and Cultural Rep-
5 resentative Office (TECRO) to display its flag on its
6 premises and the American Institute in Taiwan
7 (AIT) and the residence of its Director in Taipei
8 shall, correspondingly, publicly display the United
9 States flag in the same manner as United States
10 embassies, consulates, and official residences
11 throughout the world.

12 (4) The Taipei Economic and Cultural Rep-
13 resentative Office and all other instrumentalities es-
14 tablished by Taiwan, including the Twin Oaks Es-
15 tate, may conduct official business activities, includ-
16 ing activities which involve participation by Members
17 of the United States Congress and other representa-
18 tives of the Federal, State, and local governments,
19 without any impediment from the United States
20 Government or any foreign power.

21 SEC. 102. VISITS BY CABINET LEVEL OFFICIALS.

22 (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

23 (1) Visits by United States cabinet officials and
24 other high-ranking visitors are an indicator of the

1 breadth and depth of ties between the United States
2 and Taiwan.

3 (2) In December 1992, United States Trade
4 Representative Carla Hills visited Taiwan, marking
5 the first cabinet-level visit since 1979.

6 (3) Over the next 8 years the Administrator of
7 the Small Business Administration, the Secretary of
8 Energy, and 2 Secretaries of Transportation visited
9 Taiwan.

10 (4) No United States cabinet secretary has vis-
11 ited Taiwan since July 2000.

12 (5) In March 2008, candidate Barack Obama
13 wrote in a message congratulating Ma Ying-jeou on 14 his election victory that “[t]he U.S. should reopen
15 blocked channels of communication with Taiwan of-
16 ficials”, however no Cabinet-level visits to Taiwan
17 have yet taken place.

18 (b) POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES.—It shall be the
19 policy of the United States to encourage visits by cabinet-
20 level officials between the United States and Taiwan to 21 foster commercial, technological, and people-to-people ex-
22 changes.

1 SEC. 103. REVISION OF GUIDELINES FOR CONTACTS WITH
2 TAIWAN.

3 Notwithstanding the 1994 Taiwan policy review and
4 current mandatory guidance from the Department of
5 State regarding contacts with Taiwan, it shall be the pol-
6 icy of the United States to—

7 (1) permit senior leaders of Taiwan to enter the
8 United States under conditions which demonstrate
9 appropriate courtesy and respect for the dignity of
10 such leaders;

11 (2) permit meetings between high-level Tai-
12 wanese and United States officials in all United
13 States executive departments;

14 (3) allow official travel to Taiwan for Depart-
15 ment of State and Department of Defense personnel
16 above the rank of office director or, for uniformed
17 military personnel, above the level of 06 (Colonel,
18 Navy Captain); and

19 (4) support a decision by Taiwan to change the
20 name of the Taipei Economic and Cultural Rep-
21 resentative Office to that of the Taiwan Representa-
22 tive Office.

1 SEC. 104. REQUIREMENT FOR SENATE CONFIRMATION OF
2 AN INDIVIDUAL APPOINTED TO SERVE AS
3 THE DIRECTOR OF THE AMERICAN INSTI-
4 TUTE IN TAIWAN.

5 (a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provi-
6 sion of law, the President shall appoint, by and with the
7 advice and consent of the Senate, an individual to serve
8 as the Director of the American Institute in Taiwan.

9 (b) TRANSITION.—The individual serving as the Di-
10 rector of the American Institute in Taiwan as of the date
11 of the enactment of this Act may continue to serve in such 12 capacity until such time as an individual is appointed and
13 confirmed in accordance with subsection (a).

14 SEC. 105. EXTRADITION AGREEMENT.

15 (a) IN GENERAL.—It shall be the policy of the United
16 States to enhance judicial cooperation with Taiwan, cur-
17 rently conducted on the basis of the 2002 Agreement on 18 Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters, by signing
19 a comprehensive extradition agreement.

20 (b) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date
21 of enactment of this Act, the President shall transmit to
22 Congress a report that assesses whether a comprehensive
23 extradition agreement between the United States and Tai-
24 wan may be submitted to the Senate for advice and con-
25 sent as a treaty or whether, because of Taiwan's unique
26 status, such agreement must be submitted to both the

1 House of Representatives and Senate for legislative ap-
2 proval.

3 SEC. 106. CONTINUATION OF THE SIX ASSURANCES AS
4 GUIDELINES IN CONDUCTING UNITED
5 STATES-TAIWAN RELATIONS.

6 Notwithstanding any communiqués entered into be-
7 tween the United States and the People's Republic of
8 China, the United States continues to assent to the six
9 assurances provided to Taiwan in July, 1982, including
10 that the United States—

11 (1) has not agreed to set a date for ending
12 arms sales to Taiwan;

13 (2) has not agreed to hold prior consultations
14 with the People's Republic of China on arms sales
15 to Taiwan;

16 (3) will not play any mediation role between
17 Taipei and Beijing;

18 (4) has not agreed to revise the Taiwan Rela-
19 tions Act;

20 (5) has not altered its position regarding sov-
21 ereignty over Taiwan; and

22 (6) will not exert pressure on Taiwan to nego-
23 tiate with the People's Republic of China.

1 SEC. 107. INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS.

2 (a) ANNUAL PROGRAM.—To provide Taiwan with the
3 international space it requires to function effectively in the
4 world community, the Secretary of State shall direct the
5 Department of State to continue its annual program to
6 ensure meaningful participation by Taiwan in the World
7 Health Assembly in Geneva, Switzerland, as well as mean-
8 ingful participation for Taiwan in other relevant inter-
9 national organizations, such as the International Civil 10 Aviation Organization (ICAO).

11 (b) MEANINGFUL PARTICIPATION BY TAIWAN.—The
12 Secretary of State shall direct the United States Perma-
13 nent Representative to the United Nations to use the
14 voice, vote, and influence of the United States at the
15 United Nations to ensure meaningful participation for
16 Taiwan in relevant United Nations Entities in which Tai-
17 wan has expressed an interest in participating.

18 SEC. 108. REPORT ON TAIWAN'S PARTICIPATION IN ICAO.

19 (a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of State shall ini-
20 tiate a United States plan to endorse and obtain meaning-
21 ful participation for Taiwan at the periodic Assemblies
22 held by the International Civil Aviation Organization
23 (ICAO) in Montreal, Canada, including the 38th Assembly
24 to be held in September–October 2013, and in the meet-
25 ings and activities of the ICAO and shall instruct the

1 United States delegation to Montreal to implement such 2 plan.

3 (b) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date
4 of the enactment of this Act and annually thereafter, the
5 Secretary of State shall submit to Congress a report con-
6 taining the plan required under subsection (a).

7 (c) FORM.—The report required under subsection (b)
8 shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may contain
9 a classified annex if necessary.

10 (d) ANNUAL BRIEFING.—The Secretary of State
11 should provide an annual briefing to or consult with Con-
12 gress on any efforts conducted by the United States Gov-
13 ernment in support of Taiwan's progress toward meaning-
14 ful participation in the ICAO.

15 TITLE II—SECURITY RELATIONS

16 SEC. 201. STRENGTHENING THE DEFENSE OF TAIWAN.

17 (a) MAINTENANCE OF SUFFICIENT SELF-DEFENSE
18 CAPABILITIES OF TAIWAN.—Congress finds that any de-
19 termination of the nature and quantity of defense articles
20 or defense services to be made available to Taiwan that
21 is made on any basis other than the defense needs of Tai-
22 wan, whether pursuant to the August 17, 1982,
23 Communiqué signed with the People's Republic of China,
24 or any similar executive agreement, order, or policy would

1 violate the intent of Congress specified in section 3(b) of
2 the Taiwan Relations Act (22 U.S.C. 3302(b)).

3 (b) FOREIGN MILITARY SALES AND LICENSED DE-
4 FENSE EXPORTS UNDER THE ARMS EXPORT CONTROL
5 ACT.—Congress finds that, in accordance with the Taiwan
6 Relations Act, the core purpose of foreign military sales
7 and licensed commercial exports under the Arms Export
8 Control Act should be to assist Taiwan in its ability to—

- 9 (1) deter coercion;
10 (2) defend against a strategy of coercive diplo-
11 macy employing threats or limited force;
12 (3) repel an invasion; and
13 (4) partner with civil responders and friendly
14 foreign militaries.

15 (c) DEFENSE TRANSFERS.—In order to accomplish
16 the purposes of this section, the President is authorized
17 to make available to Taiwan defense articles or defense
18 services, including the following:

- 19 (1) Air and air defense capabilities, including—
20 (A) low-cost, survivable sensors;
21 (B) command and control systems;
22 (C) modern surface to air missiles;
23 (D) upgrades to existing modern combat
24 aircraft as well as new combat aircraft, includ-

1 ing Vertical and Short Take-Off and Landing
2 Aircraft (V/STOL);

3 (E) radar, electronic warfare, and jamming
4 capabilities;

5 (F) passive defense measures (such as re-
6 dundancy, dispersal, camouflage/deception,
7 hardening, and rapid repair capabilities); and

8 (G) access to satellites for remote sensing
9 and communication.

10 (2) Maritime capabilities, including—

11 (A) additional sensor capacity for com-
12 prehensive maritime domain awareness;

13 (B) cost-effective submarines for anti-sur-
14 face, anti-submarine warfare, and other mis-
15 sions;

16 (C) mines and mine countermeasure ves-
17 sels; and

18 (D) anti-ship cruise missiles.

19 (3) Ground capabilities, including—

20 (A) layers, short-range air defense;

21 (B) critical infrastructure protection to en-
22 sure continuity of government;

23 (C) air mobility;

24 (D) unmanned air vehicles; and

1 (E) accurate, GPS-guided short-range
2 rockets.

3 (4) Capacity for partnership with friendly for-
4 eign militaries, including—

5 (A) command, control, communications,
6 computers, intelligence, surveillance, and recon-
7 naissance situational awareness systems;

8 (B) enhanced doctrine exchange; and

9 (C) enhanced senior-level training.

10 (d) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION RELATING TO ARMS
11 EXPORT CONTROL ACT.—Nothing in this section shall be
12 construed to supersede or modify section 36 of the Arms
13 Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2776).

14 SEC. 202. ADVANCED COMBAT AIRCRAFT FOR TAIWAN.

15 (a) STATEMENT OF POLICY.—Notwithstanding the
16 upgrade of Taiwan’s F–16 A/B aircraft, Taiwan will expe-
17 rience a growing shortfall in fighter aircraft, particularly
18 as its F–5 aircraft are retired from service.

19 (b) AUTHORITY TO ACCEPT LETTER OF REQUEST.—
20 Pursuant to the foreign military sales program authorized
21 by the Arms Export Control Act, the President is author-
22 ized to accept a letter of request from Taiwan for price
23 and availability data or for a formal sales offer with re-
24 spect to the F–16C/D Fighting Falcon multirole fighter
25 aircraft or other aircraft of similar capability, as may be

1 necessary to enable Taiwan to maintain a sufficient self-
2 defense capability.

3 SEC. 203. CONSULTATIONS ON TAIWAN ARMS SALES.

4 (a) BRIEFINGS.—Not later than 90 days after the
5 date of the enactment of this Act and at least annually
6 thereafter, the Secretary of State, in consultation with the
7 Secretary of Defense, shall provide detailed briefings to
8 Congress on—

9 (1) any discussions conducted between any ex-
10 ecutive branch agency and the Government of Tai-11 wan during a covered period; and

12 (2) any potential transfer to the Government of 13 Taiwan of defense articles or defense services.

14 (b) DEFINITIONS.—In this section and section 201:

15 (1) COVERED PERIOD.—The term “covered pe-
16 riod” means, with respect to—

17 (A) the initial briefing required under sub-
18 section (a), the period beginning on the date of
19 the enactment of this Act and ending on the
20 date of such initial briefing; and

21 (B) subsequent briefings required under
22 such subsection, the period beginning on the
23 day after the date of the most recent briefing
24 and ending on the date of any such subsequent 25 briefing.

1 (2) EXECUTIVE BRANCH AGENCY.—The term
2 “executive branch agency” has the meaning given
3 the term “agency” in section 551(1) of title 5,
4 United States Code.

5 (3) DEFENSE ARTICLE.—The term “defense ar-
6 ticle” has the meaning given such term in section 47
7 of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2794).

8 (4) DEFENSE SERVICE.—The term “defense
9 service” has the meaning given such term in section
10 47 of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C.

12 SEC. 204. ANNUAL REPORT ON DEFENSE TRANSFERS TO
13 TAIWAN.

14 (a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 180 days after the 15 date of the enactment of this Act and annually thereafter,
16 the President shall transmit to Congress a report—

17 (1) detailing each of Taiwan’s requests for pur-
18 chase of defense articles and defense services during
19 the immediately preceding one-year period, whether

23 2006 through 2011;

24 (2) describing the defense needs asserted by
25 Taiwan as justification for such requests;

1 (3) describing the decisionmaking process used
2 to reject, postpone, or modify any such request, in-
3 cluding—

4 (A) with respect to significant military
5 equipment, the country team assessment and
6 recommendation as to whether the United
7 States should sell such equipment; and

8 (B) for each request, the elapse of time be-

10 completion of the interagency review process by 11 the United States; and

17 as the case may be, all sales and licensed exports to 18 Taiwan under such Act of major weapons or weap-
19 ons-related defense equipment for $7,000,000 or 20 more, and the extent to which a decision to not in-

1 SEC. 205. REPORT ON IMPLEMENTATION OF TAIWAN RELA-
2 TIONS ACT.

3 (a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 180 days after the

12 since 2000 to implement section 2(b)(6) and sub-
13 sections (a), (b), and (c) of section 3 of the Taiwan
14 Relations Act, including the extent to which the 15 United States retains the capacity to resist any re-
16 sort to force or other forms of coercion that would 17 jeopardize the security, or the social or economic 18 system, of the people of Taiwan. Such review shall 19 take into account whether Taiwan's air and air de-
20 fense forces retain the ability to effectively defend
21 Taiwan against China's ballistic missile and air
22 threats, and the extent to which the absence of cred-
23 ible Taiwanese air defense forces may complicate the 24 ability of the United States to resist any resort to 25 force that jeopardizes the security of Taiwan.

1 (2) An evaluation of all gaps in relevant knowl-
2 edge about the capabilities and intentions of the 3 People's Republic of China as such capabilities and
4 intentions might affect the current and future mili-

17 GARY (FFG-51), USS CARR (FFG-52), and USS
18 ELROD (FFG-55) to the Taipei Economic and Cultural 19 Representative Office of the United States (which is the 20 Taiwan instrumentality designated pursuant to section

13 (d) EXPIRATION OF AUTHORITY.—The authority to 14 transfer a vessel under this section shall expire at the end

17 TITLE III—ECONOMIC AND 18 TRADE RELATIONS

19 SEC. 301. TRADE AND INVESTMENT FRAMEWORK AGREE- 20 MENT.

21 It is the sense of Congress that, at the earliest oppor-
 22 tunity, the United States Trade Representative should 23 seek to resume and successfully conclude negotiations of 24 economic issues in the Trade and Investment Framework
 25 Agreement (TIFA) talks with Taiwan.

1 SEC. 302. FREE TRADE AGREEMENT.

2 (a) IN GENERAL.—It is the sense of Congress that
3 the ultimate goal of trade negotiations with Taiwan should
4 be the negotiation of a free trade agreement with Taiwan.
5 As building blocks toward that goal, the United States
6 should study the feasibility of negotiating with Taiwan a
7 bilateral—

8 (1) investment agreement; and

9 (2) tax agreement.

10 (b) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date
11 of enactment of this Act, the President shall transmit to 12 Congress a report that assesses whether economic and 13 trade agreements between the United States and Taiwan
14 may be submitted to the Senate for advice and consent
15 as a treaty or whether, because of Taiwan's unique status,
16 such agreements must be submitted to both the House of 17 Representatives and Senate for legislative approval.

OFFERED BY MS. ROS-LEHTINEN OF FLORIDA

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

1 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

2 This Act may be cited as the “Taiwan Policy Act of 3 2013”.

4 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

5 Congress finds the following:

6 (1) The Taiwan Relations Act (Public Law 96–
7 8; 22 U.S.C. 3301 et seq.), enacted in 1979, has
8 continued for 34 years to be the cornerstone of
9 United States–Taiwan relations and has served as
10 an anchor for peace and security in the Western Pa-
11 cific region.

12 (2) The Taiwan Relations Act, in furthering the
13 national interests of the United States in the West-
14 ern Pacific region, has mandated that the United
15 States will make available to Taiwan such defense
16 articles and defense services in such quantity as may
17 be necessary to enable Taiwan to maintain a suffi-
18 cient self-defense capability, thus allowing the people

1 of Taiwan to preserve a peaceful, democratic, and
2 prosperous way of life.

3 (3) The future of Taiwan must be determined
4 in a peaceful manner and with the assent of the peo-
5 ple of Taiwan.

6 (4) The Taiwan Relations Act declares that—

7 (A) peace and stability in the Western Pa-
8 cific area are in the political, security, and eco-
9 nomic interests of the United States, and are
10 matters of international concern;

11 (B) the United States decision to establish
12 diplomatic relations with the People's Republic
13 of China rests upon the expectation that the fu-
14 ture of Taiwan will be determined by peaceful
15 means;

16 (C) the United States considers any effort
17 to determine the future of Taiwan by other
18 than peaceful means, including by boycotts or
19 embargoes, a threat to the peace and security
20 of the Western Pacific area and of grave con-
21 cern to the United States;

22 (D) the United States will maintain the ca-
23 pacity to resist any resort to force or other
24 forms of coercion that would jeopardize the se-

1 curity, or the social or economic system, of the
2 people on Taiwan; and

3 (E) the preservation and enhancement of
4 the human rights of all the people on Taiwan
5 are reaffirmed as objectives of the United
6 States.

7 (5) United States–Taiwan relations have suf-
8 fered from inattention and lack of strategic vision,
9 thereby requiring the Congress to both clarify
10 United States policy toward Taiwan and enhance its 11 oversight role in the implementation of the Taiwan
12 Relations Act.

13 (6) In its China Military Power Report for
14 2012, Taiwan’s Ministry of National Defense
15 (MND) estimated that more than 1,600 ballistic and
16 cruise missiles are now being aimed at Taiwan by
17 the Second Artillery Corps of the People’s Republic
18 of China and other experts suggest that this number
19 could increase to 1,800 in the near future.

20 (7) The anti-secession law, passed by the Na-
21 tional People’s Congress of the People’s Republic of
22 China, was found by House Concurrent Resolution
23 98, passed in the House of Representatives on
24 March 16, 2005, by a vote of 424–4, “to create a
25 legal framework for possible use of force against

1 Taiwan” and “to provide a legal justification for the
2 use of force against Taiwan, altering the status quo
3 in the region, and thus is of grave concern to the
4 United States.”.

5 (8) The legislative requirement to make avail-
6 able defense articles and defense services should in-
7 clude the provision of new F-16 C/D aircraft and
8 upgrades of existing F-16 A/B aircraft essential to
9 Taiwan’s security.

10 (9) The 2012 Department of Defense’s Annual
11 Report to Congress on Military and Security Devel-
12 opments Involving the People’s Republic of China
13 noted that “preparing for contingencies in the Tai-
14 wan Strait remains the principal focus and driver of
15 much of China’s military investment. In this context,
16 over the past year, the [People’s Liberation Army]
17 continued to build the capabilities and develop the
18 doctrine it considers necessary to deter Taiwan from
19 declaring independence; to deter, delay, and deny ef-
20 fective U.S. intervention in a potential cross-Strait
21 conflict; and to defeat Taiwan forces in the event of 22 hostilities.”.

23 (10) The language contained in the Joint
24 Communiqué of the United States of America and
25 the People’s Republic of China, dated August 17,

1 1982, which states in part that “arms sales to Tai-
2 wan will not exceed, either in qualitative or in quan-
3 titative terms, the level of those supplied in recent
4 years” shall not, to any degree, diminish the respon-
5 sibility of the United States, as legislatively man-
6 dated in the Taiwan Relations Act, to “make avail-
7 able to Taiwan such defense articles and defense
8 services in such quantity as may be necessary to en-
9 able Taiwan to maintain a sufficient self-defense ca-
10 pability.”.

11 (11) The United States has sought diplomati-
12 cally to preserve Taiwan’s international space, de-
13 spite outside pressure and coercion, and has sought
14 to secure Taiwan’s meaningful participation in such
15 international organizations as the World Health Or-
16 ganization (WHO).

17 (12) Given the critical importance of airport se-
18 curity in a post-September 11th international envi-
19 ronment, the United States recognizes it is crucial
20 for Taiwan to be admitted to meaningful participa-
21 tion in the International Civil Aviation Organization
22 (ICAO) so that Taiwan may contribute to the suc-
23 cess of a global strategy to address aviation security
24 threats based on effective international cooperation.

1 (13) Recognizing that the Taiwan Relations Act
2 stated that it is the policy of the United States “to
3 preserve and promote extensive, close, and friendly
4 commercial, cultural, and other relations between
5 the people of the United States and the people on
6 Taiwan” the Secretary of Homeland Security an-
7 nounced on October 2, 2012, “the designation of
8 Taiwan into the Visa Waiver Program (VWP)” with
9 eligible Taiwan passport holders able to travel on the 10 VWP beginning November 1, 2012.

11 (14) The conclusion of the Economic Coopera-
12 tion Framework Agreement (ECFA) between Tai-
13 wan and the People’s Republic of China in June
14 2010 or the adoption of any other cross-Straits eco-
15 nomic measures shall not diminish in any degree the 16 requirement contained in the Taiwan Relations Act
17 to “maintain the capacity of the United States to re-
18 sist any resort to force or other forms of coercion
19 that would jeopardize the security, or the social or 20 economic system, of the people on Taiwan.”.

21 (15) Total United States–Taiwan trade in 2012
22 was $63,200,000,000 and Taiwan was the 11th
23 largest United States trading partner and the 7th
24 largest market for United States agricultural ex-
25 ports.

1 (16) It is in the economic interests of the
2 United States and the national security interests of
3 Taiwan for our two peoples to strengthen our trade
4 and investment ties.

5 SEC. 3. RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.

6 Nothing in this Act shall be construed to amend or
7 supersede the Taiwan Relations Act.

8 TITLE I—POLITICAL RELATIONS

9 SEC. 101. RELATIONS WITH THE PEOPLE OF TAIWAN.

10 The following shall be the policies of the United
11 States:

12 (1) Supporting Taiwan, Taiwan's democracy,
13 and the human rights of its people.

14 (2) As noted in the Taiwan Relations Act, "the
15 absence of diplomatic relations or recognition shall
16 not affect the application of the laws of the United
17 States with respect to Taiwan, and the laws of the
18 United States shall apply with respect to Taiwan in
19 the manner that the laws of the United States ap-
20 plied with respect to Taiwan prior to January 1,
21 1979."

22 (3) The United States Government shall respect
23 the right of the Taipei Economic and Cultural Rep-
24 resentative Office (TECRO) to display its flag on its
25 premises and the American Institute in Taiwan

1 (AIT) and the residence of its Director in Taipei
2 shall, correspondingly, publicly display the United
3 States flag in the same manner as United States
4 embassies, consulates, and official residences
5 throughout the world.

6 (4) The Taipei Economic and Cultural Rep-
7 resentative Office and all other instrumentalities es-
8 tablished by Taiwan, including the Twin Oaks Es-
9 tate, may conduct official business activities, includ-
10 ing activities which involve participation by Members
11 of the United States Congress and other representa-
12 tives of the Federal, State, and local governments,
13 without any impediment from the United States
14 Government or any foreign power.

15 SEC. 102. VISITS BY CABINET LEVEL OFFICIALS.

16 (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

17 (1) Visits by United States cabinet officials and
18 other high-ranking visitors are an indicator of the
19 breadth and depth of ties between the United States
20 and Taiwan.

21 (2) In December 1992, United States Trade
22 Representative Carla Hills visited Taiwan, marking
23 the first cabinet-level visit since 1979.

24 (3) Over the next 8 years the Administrator of
25 the Small Business Administration, the Secretary of

1 Energy, and 2 Secretaries of Transportation visited
2 Taiwan.

3 (4) No United States cabinet secretary has vis-
4 ited Taiwan since July 2000.

5 (b) POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES.—It shall be the
6 policy of the United States to encourage visits by cabinet-
7 level officials between the United States and Taiwan to 8 foster commercial, technological, people-to-people, or other
9 exchanges.

10 SEC. 103. REVISION OF GUIDELINES FOR CONTACTS WITH
11 TAIWAN.

12 Notwithstanding the 1994 Taiwan policy review and
13 current mandatory guidance from the Department of
14 State regarding contacts with Taiwan, it shall be the pol-
15 icy of the United States to—

16 (1) permit senior leaders of Taiwan to enter the
17 United States under conditions which demonstrate
18 appropriate courtesy and respect for the dignity of
19 such leaders;

20 (2) permit meetings between high-level Tai-
21 wanese and United States officials in all United
22 States executive departments;

23 (3) allow official travel to Taiwan for Depart-
24 ment of State and Department of Defense personnel
25 above the rank of office director or, for uniformed

1 military personnel, above the level of 06 (Colonel,
2 Navy Captain); and

3 (4) support a decision by Taiwan to change the
4 name of the Taipei Economic and Cultural Rep-
5 resentative Office.

6 SEC. 104. REQUIREMENT FOR SENATE CONFIRMATION OF
7 AN INDIVIDUAL APPOINTED TO SERVE AS
8 THE DIRECTOR OF THE AMERICAN INSTI-
9 TUTE IN TAIWAN.

10 (a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provi-
11 sion of law, the President shall appoint, by and with the
12 advice and consent of the Senate, an individual to serve
13 as the Director of the American Institute in Taiwan.

14 (b) TRANSITION.—The individual serving as the Di-
15 rector of the American Institute in Taiwan as of the date
16 of the enactment of this Act may continue to serve in such
17 capacity until such time as an individual is appointed and
18 confirmed in accordance with subsection (a).

19 SEC. 105. EXTRADITION AGREEMENT.

20 (a) IN GENERAL.—It shall be the policy of the United
21 States to enhance judicial cooperation with Taiwan, cur-
22 rently conducted on the basis of the 2002 Agreement on
23 Mutual Legal Assistance in Criminal Matters, by signing
24 a comprehensive extradition agreement.

1 (b) REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after the date
2 of enactment of this Act, the President shall transmit to
3 Congress a report that assesses whether a comprehensive
4 extradition agreement between the United States and Tai-
5 wan may be submitted to the Senate for advice and con-
6 sent as a treaty or whether, because of Taiwan's unique
7 status, such agreement must be submitted to both the
8 House of Representatives and Senate for legislative ap-
9 proval.

11 GUIDELINES IN CONDUCTING UNITED
12 STATES-TAIWAN RELATIONS.

13 Notwithstanding any communiqués entered into be-
14 tween the United States and the People's Republic of
15 China, the United States continues to assent to the six
16 assurances provided to Taiwan in July, 1982, including
17 that the United States—

18 (1) has not agreed to set a date for ending
19 arms sales to Taiwan;

20 (2) has not agreed to hold prior consultations
21 with the People's Republic of China on arms sales
22 to Taiwan;

23 (3) will not play any mediation role between
24 Taipei and Beijing;

1 (4) has not agreed to revise the Taiwan Rela-
2 tions Act;

3 (5) has not altered its position regarding sov-
4 ereignty over Taiwan; and

5 (6) will not exert pressure on Taiwan to nego-
6 tiate with the People's Republic of China.

7 SEC. 107. INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS.

8 (a) ANNUAL PROGRAM.—To provide Taiwan with the
9 international space it requires to function effectively in the
10 world community, the Secretary of State shall direct the
11 Department of State to continue its annual program to
12 ensure meaningful participation by Taiwan in the World
13 Health Assembly in Geneva, Switzerland, as well as mean-
14 ingful participation for Taiwan in other relevant inter-
15 national organizations.

16 (b) MEANINGFUL PARTICIPATION BY TAIWAN.—The
17 Secretary of State shall direct the United States Perma-
18 nent Representative to the United Nations to use the
19 voice, vote, and influence of the United States at the
20 United Nations to ensure meaningful participation for
21 Taiwan in relevant United Nations Entities in which Tai-
22 wan has expressed an interest in participating.

2 SEC. 201. STRENGTHENING THE DEFENSE OF TAIWAN.

3 (a) MAINTENANCE OF SUFFICIENT SELF-DEFENSE
4 CAPABILITIES OF TAIWAN.—Congress finds that any de-
5 termination of the nature and quantity of defense articles
6 and defense services to be made available to Taiwan that
7 is made on any basis other than the defense needs of Tai-
8 wan, whether pursuant to the August 17, 1982,
9 Communiqué signed with the People’s Republic of China,
10 or any similar executive agreement, order, or policy would
11 violate the intent of Congress specified in section 3(b) of
12 the Taiwan Relations Act (22 U.S.C. 3302(b)).

13 (b) FOREIGN MILITARY SALES AND LICENSED DE-
14 FENSE EXPORTS UNDER THE ARMS EXPORT CONTROL
15 ACT.—Congress finds that, in accordance with the Taiwan
16 Relations Act, the core purpose of foreign military sales
17 and licensed commercial exports under the Arms Export
18 Control Act should be to assist Taiwan in its ability to—

- 19 (1) deter coercion;
20 (2) defend against a strategy of coercive diplo-
21 macy employing threats or limited force;
22 (3) repel an invasion; and
23 (4) partner with civil responders and friendly
24 foreign militaries.

1 (c) DEFENSE TRANSFERS.—In order to accomplish
2 the purposes of this section, the President is authorized
3 to make available to Taiwan defense articles and defense
4 services, including the following:

6 (A) low-cost, survivable sensors;

7 (B) command and control systems;

8 (C) modern surface to air missiles;

9 (D) upgrades to existing modern combat
10 aircraft as well as new combat aircraft, includ-
11 ing Vertical and Short Take-Off and Landing
12 Aircraft (V/STOL);

13 (E) radar, electronic warfare, and jamming
14 capabilities;

15 (F) passive defense measures (such as re-
16 dundancy, dispersal, camouflage/deception,
17 hardening, and rapid repair capabilities); and

18 (G) access to satellites for remote sensing
19 and communication.

20 (2) Maritime capabilities, including—

21 (A) additional sensor capacity for com-
22 prehensive maritime domain awareness;

23 (B) cost-effective submarines for anti-sur-
24 face, anti-submarine warfare, and other mis-
25 sions;

1 (C) mines and mine countermeasure ves-
2 sels; and

3 (D) anti-ship cruise missiles.

4 (3) Ground capabilities, including—

5 (A) layered, short-range air defense;

6 (B) critical infrastructure protection to en-
7 sure continuity of government;

8 (C) air mobility;

10 (E) accurate, GPS-guided short-range
11 rockets.

12 (4) Capacity for partnership with friendly for-
13 eign militaries, including—

14 (A) command, control, communications,
15 computers, intelligence, surveillance, and recon-
16 naissance situational awareness systems;

17 (B) enhanced doctrine exchange; and

18 (C) enhanced senior-level training.

19 (d) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION RELATING TO ARMS
20 EXPORT CONTROL ACT.—Nothing in this section shall be
21 construed to supersede or modify section 36 of the Arms
22 Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2776).

23 SEC. 202. ADVANCED COMBAT AIRCRAFT FOR TAIWAN.

24 (a) STATEMENT OF POLICY.—Notwithstanding the
25 upgrade of Taiwan's F-16 A/B aircraft, Taiwan will expe-

1 rience a growing shortfall in fighter aircraft, particularly
2 as its F-5 aircraft are retired from service.

3 (b) AUTHORITY TO ACCEPT LETTER OF REQUEST.—
4 Pursuant to the foreign military sales program authorized
5 by the Arms Export Control Act, the President is author-
6 ized to accept a letter of request from Taiwan for price
7 and availability data or for a formal sales offer with re-
8 spect to the F-16C/D Fighting Falcon multirole fighter
9 aircraft or other aircraft of similar capability, as may be
10 necessary to enable Taiwan to maintain a sufficient self-
11 defense capability.

12 SEC. 203. CONSULTATIONS ON TAIWAN ARMS SALES.

13 (a) BRIEFINGS.—Not later than 90 days after the
14 date of the enactment of this Act and at least annually
15 thereafter, the Secretary of State, in consultation with the
16 Secretary of Defense, shall provide detailed briefings to
17 Congress on—

18 (1) any discussions on security matters con-
19 ducted between any executive branch agency and the 20 Government of Taiwan during a covered period; and

21 (2) any potential transfer to the Government of 22 Taiwan of defense articles or defense services, in-

24 fense articles previously transferred by the United 25 States to the Government of Taiwan.

1 (b) DEFINITIONS.—In this section and section 201:

2 (1) COVERED PERIOD.—The term “covered pe-
3 riod” means, with respect to—

5 section (a), the period beginning on the date of
6 the enactment of this Act and ending on the
7 date of such initial briefing; and

8 (B) subsequent briefings required under
9 such subsection, the period beginning on the
10 day after the date of the most recent briefing
11 and ending on the date of any such subsequent

2 TAIWAN.

3 (a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 180 days after the

5 the President shall transmit to Congress a report—

7 chase of defense articles and defense services during
8 the immediately preceding one-year period, whether
9 submitted through a letter of request (LOR) or con-
10 veyed by other authoritative means, except that the 11 first report under this section shall cover the period
12 2006 through 2012;

13 (2) describing the defense needs asserted by
14 Taiwan as justification for such requests;

15 (3) describing the decisionmaking process used
16 to reject, postpone, or modify any such request, in-
17 cluding—

18 (A) with respect to significant military
19 equipment, the country team assessment and
20 recommendation as to whether the United
21 States should sell such equipment; and

22 (B) for each request, the elapse of time be-
23 tween the submission of such request and the

16 fidence in Taiwan's commitment to nondiscriminatory
17 treatment of United States exports.

18 SEC. 302. FREE TRADE AGREEMENT.

19 It is the sense of Congress that at an appropriate
20 time the United States should seek the negotiation of a 21 free trade agreement with Taiwan. As building blocks to-
22 ward that goal, the United States should study the feasi-
23 bility of negotiating with Taiwan a bilateral—

AMENDMENT TO THE AMENDMENT IN THE NATURE OF A SUBSTITUTE TO H.R. 419
OFFERED BY MR. GRAYSON OF FLORIDA

In section 2(5), strike “United States–Taiwan relations have suffered from inattention and lack of strategic vision, thereby requiring the Congress to both” and inserting “Congress desires to both”.

Chairman ROYCE. And after recognizing myself and the ranking member for brief remarks, I will be glad to recognize any other member seeking recognition to speak on this particular bill.

As a strong supporter of U.S.-Taiwan relations and a cosponsor of this legislation, I would like to begin by expressing my appreciation to our chairman emeritus for authoring this good work. Taiwan, as you know, shares many common values with the United States, and earlier this year the ranking member and I traveled to Taiwan with a bipartisan delegation and discussed many of the issues that are addressed in this particular bill.

Our relationship between this country and Taiwan is a cornerstone of U.S. foreign policy in the region, and this bill bolsters the U.S.-Taiwan diplomatic relationship and helps to ensure that Taiwan will be able to defend itself by authorizing the transfer of defensive military equipment.

There is no better indicator of strong relations between countries than flourishing trade. The Taiwan Policy Act recognizes this by calling on the United States Trade Representative to quickly conclude the ongoing Trade and Investment Framework Agreement, the TIFA negotiations, with Taiwan and to begin negotiations on a bilateral free trade agreement with the country.

Last month the President signed legislation passed by this committee to bolster Taiwan's participation in the International Civil Aviation Organization. This bill is another positive step in our relationship, and I urge my colleagues to support the Taiwan Policy Act.

And I now recognize the ranking member for his opening remarks.

Mr. ENGEL. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman.

As you mentioned, you and I both traveled to Taiwan earlier this year, and I have always been bullish on the U.S.-Taiwan relationship. I have always been amazed at what the people of Taiwan have been able to accomplish. Their economy is something like 18th in the world on a small, little island. And they have been good allies and friends of the United States, and I think that we should continue to do everything that we can do to strengthen them and make the relationship between the U.S. and Taiwan stronger than ever.

This Taiwan Policy Act of 2013 is introduced by our colleague, Representative Ileana Ros-Lehtinen, and I support it wholeheartedly. It is intended to update and strengthen certain aspects of the U.S.-Taiwan relationship. It includes a provision that would allow senior leaders of Taiwan to visit the United States, and not just on so-called transit stops on the way to other countries. It is time that every Taiwanese official is accorded the respect that they deserve, and I feel very, very strongly about that.

The legislation also maintains strong U.S. support for Taiwan's meaningful participation in international organizations like the World Health Organization and the International Civil Aviation Organization.

And finally the bill authorizes the President to make available to Taiwan a wide range of defense items and services in accordance with the Taiwan Relations Act, which governs relations between the United States and Taiwan. By strengthening Taiwan's self-defense capability, the United States can help it to deter and defend against any possible attack.

Make no mistake about it, everyone should know that the U.S.-Taiwan relationship is unbreakable, and this legislation helps to cement that. This bipartisan legislation reinforces America's strong support for Taiwan and the Taiwanese people, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

I think our Congresswoman Ros-Lehtinen wanted to speak for a moment on this measure.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Thank you so much, Mr. Chairman. I would like to thank you and our esteemed ranking member for bringing up H.R. 419, the Taiwan Policy Act, to mark up this morning.

I would also like to thank the cochairs of the Congressional Taiwan Caucus; our Foreign Affairs colleague, Albio Sires and, as well as, Gerry Connolly; and Mario Diaz-Balart and John Carter for their full support and in joining me in introducing this bill.

Taiwan is an important ally and friend of the United States and should be treated as such. Our relations with Taiwan are stronger than ever, yet Taiwan faces a precarious situation as North Korea remains unpredictable, and China continues to ramp up its military presence in the region and pursue antagonistic policies in the Taiwan Strait and South China Sea. This bill sends our Taiwanese allies an important message. It shows them that the United States Congress deeply values our friendship with them, and that we will stand by their side in the face of Chinese aggression.

This bill would further strengthen our relations by finally permitting senior Taiwanese leaders to meet with U.S. officials in all executive branches. Imagine that. It will also authorize the sale of much-needed F-16C/D fighter aircraft to the Armed Forces of Taiwan. China has been increasing its military spending at an alarming rate. We must not allow Taiwan's defense capabilities to lag behind. So in an effort to not have that happen, this bill also authorizes the transfer of decommissioned class guided missile frigates to Taiwan.

Mr. Chairman and Mr. Ranking Member, this bipartisan bill is not only good for our national interest, but it sends an important message to Taiwan that we value her friendship and will continue to stand by her side.

I thank the gentleman for your consideration.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

Do any other members wish to speak on this particular amendment?

Mr. CHABOT. Mr. Chairman.

Chairman ROYCE. We will go to this side and Mr. Faleomavaega.

Mr. FALEOMAVEGA. Mr. Chairman, thank you, you and also our senior ranking member, for not only your support, but for your leadership and endorsement of this proposed legislation.

I particularly want to thank also the chairman of our subcommittee. Chairman Chabot and I, we also recently had the privilege of visiting Taiwan and visiting and meeting with President Ma and some of the high officials there of their government, and wanted to reassure them of our absolute support and our bilateral relationship.

I think we need to be reminded of the fact that Taiwan was the most critical issue which led to President Nixon's historical visit in 1972, changing liberty, the whole course of history in terms of our relationship then with the two powerful countries of the Soviet Union as well as China.

I think it is important to note also that Congress passing the Taiwan Relations Act of 1979 was very, very critical. It is the chief cornerstone of our entire bilateral relationship with Taiwan, dealing both with economic as well as security issues.

And I wanted just to note also that recently we had the—I had the privilege of introducing the South China Seas resolution and wanted to give notice to our friends of the People's Republic of China about our concerns in what is happening in that region. We all know the threats and the fact that some 1,600 ballistic missiles are pointed from China toward Taiwan, and in terms of our concerns in making sure that Taiwan is given whatever capabilities as far as military efforts to defend itself against enemies, that it is just as well also our responsibility.

I think we need to be reminded that Taiwan is a beacon of democracy, a classic example where countries in this important region of the world need to look at the example that the people of Taiwan are able to live as a free people and in a way that their elections and everything are second to none in terms of the freedoms that they enjoy.

And with that, Mr. Chairman, again, I want to really commend the gentlelady from Florida for her leadership, her initiative, and her passion in support of the people and the leaders of Taiwan, and I want to assure her of my absolute support of this proposed amendment in the form of a substitute, and I ask that our colleagues support this legislation, and I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

I believe Mr. Chabot wanted to speak, chairman of the Asia Subcommittee, and I think he conducted the markup at subcommittee level on this legislation.

Mr. Chabot.

Mr. CHABOT. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I want to thank Mr. Faleomavaega. As he indicated, we traveled to Taiwan earlier this year and it was a very productive trip. We have had a tremendous working relationship, and I thank him for that. As he mentioned, we did have the opportunity to meet with President Ma. We also met with former President Chen and we certainly hope the issue is resolved sometime in the very near future.

I strongly support the Taiwan Policy Act and I commend Chairman Ros-Lehtinen for her hard work on this issue. I am not going to repeat everything that I said during our Asia Subcommittee markup, but I do want to recognize the strong relationship, as has already been indicated here, between the United States and Taiwan. Taiwan is a democracy. It is a loyal friend and ally of the United States and it deserves to be treated as such by the United States Government.

The legislation before us this morning addresses a number of important issues and in the interest of time, I will highlight just a couple. First, the Taiwan Policy Act would authorize an arms sale package that is long overdue, a package including, as Ms. Ros-Lehtinen indicated, the F-16C/D, which would provide a very important security blanket to Taiwan as it faces potential aggression from the PRC.

The legislation also addresses an issue that I have been speaking out about for many years now—the issue of high-level visits by high-ranking Taiwanese officials. Our current policy is insulting to our Taiwanese friends and it sends the wrong message to all our allies. A change in U.S. policy is long overdue, and this legislation moves us toward that goal.

Some years ago when President Chen visited the United States, about 25 Members of this body, after votes on a Monday evening, flew up to New York City to meet with the President because he couldn't come to Washington, DC. It makes absolutely no sense. On another occasion I visited with the Foreign Minister when he was a member of the Legislature here in Washington. He was appointed Foreign Minister about 3 weeks later and I had to go to Baltimore to visit with him because he could no longer come to Washington, DC, even though he had a home on the outskirts of Washington.

It makes absolutely no sense, and it ought to be changed. It is long overdue and I appreciate Ms. Ros-Lehtinen addressing this in the legislation. I yield back the balance of my time.

Chairman ROYCE. Mr. Ted Deutch.

Mr. DEUTCH. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Thank you to Chairman Emeritus Ros-Lehtinen for this legislation that reaffirms the special relationship between the United States and Taiwan. Since Congress first passed the Taiwan Relations Act in 1979, there has been overwhelming support for the strategic and economic relationship between our two countries. Taiwan is the United States' eighth largest trading partner with trade totaling $60 billion annually.

Taiwan has provided a reliable partner and ally for the United States in the Pacific, but as we confront various regional challenges and changing dynamics, this is a relationship that needs a long-term strategic vision. The United States will continue to support Taiwan's strategic needs, and I hope that in time we will see the delivery of the F-16C/Ds to Taiwan.

There is no doubt this island nation plays a vital role in the world's economy and deserves a place in the international community. Taiwan's ability to participate in the international fora is consistently hindered, and the United States must continue to work to ensure that Taiwan receives observer status in various U.N. bodies like the International Aviation Organization and the World Health Organization.

Perhaps most importantly, we will continue to support—we will continue to cement the strong and vibrant relationship between the American people and the people of Taiwan.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman, and I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Mr. Matt Salmon of Arizona.

Mr. SALMON. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

From 1977 to 1979, I was privileged to be a missionary for my church in Taiwan, and I lived in the southern part of the country. I learned the Chinese language, and I learned that the people of Taiwan are a freedom-loving people, hard-working people that feel very, very strongly about their relationship with the United States. In fact, many, many times they mentioned to me how welcome I was, being from Arizona, because Barry Goldwater, who was our Senator at the time, was referred to as "Mr. Taiwan" because of his immense support for Taiwan.

I was also there in 1979, living there, when Jimmy Carter normalized relations with China and severed diplomatic ties with Taiwan, and I have got to tell you, a lot of those folks were very dispirited, and they felt like at that time maybe the United States was walking back from its friendship and its commitment to one of the strongest allies that we have had, probably next to Israel the strongest ally that the United States has had. And we shared with them that that doesn't do anything to diminish the strength and the commitment of the United States, and they were patient, they stayed with us.

Then came the Taiwan Relations Act that very, very strongly said that we would stand by Taiwan, and if a crisis happened in that region of the world, that we would stand by them as strong allies, as we always have done.

Fast forward a little bit, and I was privileged to be there at the swearing-in of Lee Teng-Hui. He was the first freely elected President from that region of the world in I don't know how many decades, but what a wonderful experience that was. And as I watched that budding democracy unfold in Taiwan, it couldn't help but bring tears to my eyes, but joy to my heart to see them, like we did over 200 years ago, try a new experiment, a new way of doing things.

As I watch what is going on in Taiwan, and I see their continued love of freedom, and I watch as we on this panel express all the time that this relationship with Taiwan is one that will stand the test of time, it makes me feel really good.

I think about the future of the eastern part of the Hemisphere, and I think that Taiwan is a wonderful example, I believe, for the rest of that region to follow. Ultimately, I believe in our lifetime, Mr. Chairman, they will lead the way to big, big reforms, I believe, on Mainland China. Mainland China has accepted economic freedom, but I think that, as we all realize, economic freedom just is the precursor to the other liberties and the freedoms we enjoy, and I believe that if we stand by Taiwan, and we keep them strong, ultimately it is going to not just be to the U.S.'s advantage, but to the entire world's advantage.

And I want to let the entire world know, but especially Taiwan, I would like to be considered one of their best friends as you, Mr. Chairman, and Ileana Ros-Lehtinen, and Mr. Rohrabacher, and many on this panel. I want to express my undying support for that wonderful democracy, and I am proud to be a cosponsor of this legislation, and I enthusiastically support what we are doing today.

And I yield back the balance of my time.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Salmon.

We go to Mr. Gerry Connolly of Virginia.

Mr. CONNOLLY. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I am also proud to cosponsor this legislation, and I thank you and the ranking member for bringing it up this morning. I am also proud to serve as the cochair of the Taiwan Caucus here in Congress. I have had the privilege—I didn't go there for my church, Mr. Salmon, but I have been to Taiwan 23 times. I started out originally as an Eisenhower fellow back in 1988 and have seen enormous progress in Taiwan, including democratization, inclusivity in terms of political participation, freedom of thought, freedom to organize and the like, and it is very heartening. And I hope it serves as a model for its big neighbor in the mainland.

What is important, it seems to me, in this relationship is that the United States be clear and steadfast in the signals and actions it takes with respect to the defense of Taiwan and our commitment to the Taiwan Straits. Whatever happens in that part of the world must be done peacefully and consensually, and it will not be done by force, and the United States is prepared to keep that commitment pursuant to the Taiwan Relations Act and its long-standing commitment to the people of Taiwan. I think that is really a very important message, and I think that message is reaffirmed with the legislation we are adopting today.

So, again, I thank you, and I yield back the balance of my time. Chairman ROYCE. Any other members seeking recognition?

Well, hearing no further requests for recognition, are there any amendments to the base text?

Hearing no further amendments, the question occurs on agreeing to the base text; namely, the Ros-Lehtinen amendment in the nature of a substitute, as amended.

All those in favor, signify by saying aye.

All those opposed, no.

In the opinion of the Chair, the ayes have it, the base text is agreed to, and, without objection, the underlying bill, H.R. 419, as amended, is agreed to, is ordered favorably reported, and will be reported as a single amendment in the nature of a substitute. Also without objection, the staff is directed to make technical and conforming changes, and the Chairman is authorized to seek House consideration of this measure under suspension of the rules.

Moving on, the Chair now calls up the bill H.R. 2848, the Department of State Operations and Embassy Security Act for Fiscal Year 2014. Without objection, the bill is considered read and open for amendment at any point.

As all officers were previously notified, I will now call up the bipartisan manager's en bloc, and then we will recognize first myself and then the ranking member and any other members wishing to speak on the bill or to speak on the en bloc components of the measure.

Without objection, the following amendments previously provided to all members and which you have in front of you will be considered en bloc: Keating amendment number 8, Cicilline amendment 23, McCaul amendment 30, Marino amendment 27, Stockman amendment 8, Smith amendment 33, the amendment to section 103 offered by Mr. Cicilline and Ms. Bass, amendment 18 offered by Mr. Perry and Ms. Meng, the Grayson amendment 197, Duncan amendment 23, the Royce amendment 49.

AMENDMENT TO H.R. 2848
OFFERED BY MR. ROYCE OF CALIFORNIA

In section 102, add at the end the following: “The Secretary shall notify the appropriate congressional committees not less than fifteen days prior to obligating funds authorized under this section to implement or establish any principle commission or organization required by a treaty that has not been ratified by the Senate.”.

Chairman ROYCE. And I will now recognize myself to speak on the bill and the manager's en bloc.

The Department of State Operations and Embassy Security Authorization Act provides our diplomats with the tools they need to do their job effectively and as safely as possible. Passing this authorization bill is a basic committee responsibility, and I very much appreciate the collaboration that I have had with Ranking Member Engel. This is a bipartisan bill, and together we have worked to incorporate the input of a large number of committee members. It is a bill we should be proud of, especially in this time of growing threats abroad, and I am very hopeful that we will be able to send it to the Senate and reach agreement to authorize State Department operations, as it should be.

Now, here is the point, members: If signed into law, this would be the first such authorization bill in over a decade. That is why our cooperation on this measure is so important. From a committee standpoint, authorizing these programs will increase our oversight ability. It will improve committee members' ability to legislate new programs, saving money, and reforming old ones. And while this bill is fiscally responsible, representing a nearly 9 percent overall cut in spending from last year, it fully funds the administration's Embassy security request.

It also contains important Embassy security reforms in response to the Benghazi attack. These include requiring that high-risk posts be designated, enhanced planning for rapid deployment of military resources in response to a crisis, and funding for more Marine guards at Embassy sites.

Very important, the bill contains a provision championed by Mr. Radel and Ms. Frankel that will award local security guard contracts on the basis of best value rather than lowest cost. For our highest-threat posts, we need the highest-quality security personnel.

In the fall we will turn to reforming the State Department's Accountability Review Board process, which looks at attacks on our diplomatic facilities, continuing the committee's focus on Embassy security.

Specific savings in this legislation comes from ending outdated reporting requirements and limiting Foreign Service pay. This legislation also caps State Department appropriations levels. I think we can all agree that the Department must make better use of the resources it has.

I appreciate the support of my colleagues on this critical piece of legislation and turn now to the ranking member for any remarks that Mr. Engel might have.

Mr. ENGEL. Well, thank you, Mr. Chairman. Thank you for holding this markup on the State Department Operations and Embassy Security Authorization for Fiscal Year 2014. I believe, as you do, that passing this legislation is one of the most important responsibilities of our committee. You and I are both determined to make sure that this committee's jurisdiction is not trampled on, and this is one of the most important things that we as a committee can do. As you pointed out, it has been more than a decade since this committee has done this, and you and I are determined not to let that happen again or continue to happen. So I think this is a very, very important markup that we are having this morning.

I am pleased that we were able to work out most of our differences and move forward with a bill that enjoys support from both sides of the aisle, strong support from both sides of the aisle, and I thank you for working things out with me and with the members on this side of the aisle with some of the concerns that came up. Thank you very much for your cooperation.

This bill provides basic authority to the State Department to advance United States' interests around the world and authorizes the resources necessary to protect our brave and dedicated diplomats. The funds authorized in this bill support all of the State Department's operations around the world for less than 3 percent of the Defense Department's total budget. To me, that is a very wise investment in U.S. national security.

In light of the dangers facing our diplomats in high-risk posts in the Middle East, North Africa, South Asia, and other volatile regions, the bill fully funds the President's request for diplomatic security. This will allow the Department to construct 6 new secure Embassies, support 151 new diplomatic security personnel, and build facilities for 26 additional Marine security guard detachments.

The legislation also includes a number of other provisions to better protect our men and women serving abroad. This includes the text of a bipartisan bill introduced by Representatives Radel and Frankel. It gives the State Department flexibility to award local guard contracts at high-threat posts on the basis of best value rather than on who had the lowest bid. In the past, having to accept the lowest bid sometimes resulted in poorly trained local security forces that endangered the safety of our diplomats and development experts.

In the same spirit of bipartisanship, I would like to commend Representatives Perry and Meng for their hard work in drafting a provision, which has been included in the manager's amendment, that provides additional accountability for State Department officials when their job performance is unsatisfactory.

In addition, I would like to thank Chairman Royce for including some elements of an Embassy security bill that I recently introduced. Among other things, these provisions would enhance the coordination between the State and Defense Departments in times of crisis, and require security and language training for State Department employees before they deploy to dangerous locations.

I want to also thank the chairman for working out concerns that some of the members had with other issues, Mr. Cicilline and Mr. Keating, and I thank you very much for your cooperation on that as well.

As you know, Mr. Chairman, it has been too long since the State Department authorization bill has been signed into law; as you mentioned, more than a decade. We need to resume the practice of passing our authorization bill on a regular basis, and encourage our Senate colleagues to do the same. When we fail to fulfill our legislative responsibility, the Foreign Affairs vacuum is filled by the Armed Services and Appropriations Committees, and once we lose our jurisdiction to others, it is hard to get it back. The bill before us today, while relatively modest in scope, is an important step in the right direction, and you and I are both determined to make sure that this committee has every bit of the jurisdiction to which it is entitled.

I urge my colleagues to support this legislation, and I look forward to working with Chairman Royce to see that it eventually reaches the President's desk.

And I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Engel.

Any other members wish to be identified, wish to speak?

Chairwoman Ros-Lehtinen of Florida.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Thank you so much.

I would like to thank you, Mr. Chairman, and our ranking member, Mr. Engel, for this important bill. As has been pointed out, for 10 years now the Congress has failed to pass a State Department authorization bill, but it hasn't been for lack of effort on the House side. Last year my friend Congressman Howard Berman and I marked up, and our committee passed, and then the House passed a bipartisan, noncontroversial reauthorization bill in an effort to improve and strengthen our oversight responsibility over the Department of State, which is our primary agency of jurisdiction.

On July 13, 2012, the House passed our State Department authorization bill overwhelmingly with a vote of 333 in favor and 61 against. However, it was unfortunate that the Senate did not make this authorization a priority, and failed to even bring up an authorization bill on the Senate floor. This year I am again hopeful that this committee will fulfill our obligation to the American public and adopt the State Department authorization bill.

Since Congress has failed to authorize the Department of State for a decade now, it has weakened this committee's ability to effectively conduct our oversight of State. This bill is once again a bipartisan, fiscally responsible, and noncontroversial bill, just like last year, that focuses on funding and operational authorities, and, importantly, it provides essential authorities for improving Embassy security so that tragic terrorist attacks like the one in Benghazi may be prevented.

I thank the chairman and the ranking member, and I commend their staffs for their hard work and effort on this bill. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

Mr. Faleomavaega of American Samoa.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Thank the chairman for yielding, and not wanting to be repetitious of what has already been said, but I do want to associate myself with the comments of both our chairman and ranking member.

I have somewhat of an institutional memory in terms of what we have dealt with, the lack of passing an authorization bill dealing with State Department spending, and the problem here, because the other body has different rules, and this is making it almost impossible for us to make it in such a way that—the way that it should function, not for lack of trying. And I want to commend the gentlelady from Florida when she chaired this committee and our ranking member, Mr. Howard Berman, had good efforts, and despite all our good efforts in doing this, somehow we get stuck in the other body, again, as I said earlier, because of the differences of rules that they have and how they take control of legislation. This has caused a lot of complication in our work here.

But, again, I do want to thank both our chairman and ranking member for their leadership, and I sincerely hope that we are going to put more teeth in this whole issue of having proper jurisdiction and the authorization to do what we should do as far as providing for the necessary legislation to making sure that the operations of our State Department will be taken well.

And with that, Mr. Chairman, I thank you.

Mr. ROHRABACHER. Would the gentleman yield for a question?

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. I gladly yield to the gentleman.

Mr. ROHRABACHER. Did the experience that you had in Peshawar, at the consulate in Peshawar, dealing with the security that you faced there, which I happen to remember because I was the other—I was with you at that time, did the fact that they offered you a .45-caliber pistol to keep underneath your pillow make you any more conscious of security needs at American diplomatic facilities?

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Reclaiming my time, I want to say to my colleague and good friend from California, that was quite an experience. I think I was the one that had the shotgun, and you had the .45—

Mr. Rohrabacher. I kind of think that is what it was.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA [continuing]. Under your pillow in terms of the safety precautions at our consulate office there in Peshawar. And I look forward to the next trip with you, the next time we might visit some friendlier countries, so we may not have to do this. But I think the gentleman's comment is well taken in terms of making sure that the security of our Embassies and consulates are taken in a lot more serious fashion perhaps than what we have now.

I am not here to point fingers who was at fault, and lack of funding, or lack of management, or whatever it may be, but I do want to thank the gentleman that there is absolutely no question in making sure that we in the Congress do our part, our part in giving the necessary resources for our friends at the State Department to do their part and to make sure that our foreign policies and issues that are important to our national security and economic interests in those countries of the world are taken seriously and in a way that it has the support, especially of this committee as the authorizing committee. And the gentleman I want to thank.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Faleomavaega, and I will assure you that we have a more promising outlook in the Senate this year for passage, and that is why I appreciate our quick action in getting this over to the Senate.

Mr. Smith of New Jersey.

Mr. SMITH. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman. First of all, let me thank you for bringing an important piece of legislation before the committee, you and Eliot Engel. Contained within this bill there are a number of important provisions, but very serious and necessary security upgrades for our Embassies and consulates abroad.

I was the author of the Admiral James W. Nance and Meg Donovan Foreign Relations Authorization Act of Fiscal Years 2000 and 2001, which was one of those last State Department bills that we got passed, and that had serious upgrades, but we need to, as you are doing, revisit the gaps that do exist, and upgrade many, and put more people on the ground, more boots on the ground, so to speak, diplomatic security people and the like, as well as Marines.

So, again, thank you so much, especially in this post-Benghazi era where multiple errors in judgment certainly led to lethal consequences, but we also know that we need to look at the other side of it, and that is the physical infrastructure. This bill does that.

Also included is peacekeeping, which is so important, and I am so glad that you have included the $300 million for the Mali peacekeeping in Africa, which, again, is our part of trying to ensure that the people who have suffered so much in Mali don't continue to suffer, and peacekeeping deployments there will make a difference.

Let me also thank you for including in the en bloc the amendment that I offered, which, frankly, is a section that I had offered in two bills previously that did not get enacted into law. One of them was the reauthorization of the Trafficking Victims Protection Act, and the other was the International Megan's Law, which was approved by the full House back in 2009, but in the Senate, like so many other bills we send them, it was never taken up. And that is a very important provision that will limit to 1 year, or such time as the Secretary of State shall determine appropriate, the period of validity of a passport issued to a sex offender. In other words, the big national Megan's Law database will now allow—rather than 10 years, which is a huge amount of time for these sex offenders to get on a plane and travel, the Secretary will have the capability to reduce to a year, how long that passport is valid.

The General Accountability Office back a couple of years ago issued a report called, "The Current Situation Results in Thousands of Passports Issued to Registered Sex Offenders," and they found that some 4,500 U.S. passports were issued to known registered sex offenders in Fiscal Year 2008 alone. The GAO emphasized in their report that this number is probably understated due to the limitations of the data that was available to analyze and to access. And again, let me remind members, once you get a passport, it is good for 10 years, and these people travel. Not all of them, but many of them, we know that these 4,500 per year are getting. And that calculates, you know, to about 50,000 Megan's Law registered sex offenders, these are convicted pedophiles. They can hop on a plane and go to Cambodia, go to Bangkok, and go to other places to abuse little children.

Megan Kanka, the little girl from whom Megan's Law derives its name, lived in my hometown. In 1994, members will recall, Megan was brutally killed and exploited and raped by a convicted pedophile, who lived across the street from her house. I know the parents very well, I know the family very well, and that began the push in every State of the Union of what we call Megan's Law. And now we have a national database that takes all of those names and keeps an ongoing listing of them, and there are obviously things they have to do.

But, again, they travel. This gives the Secretary of State some additional authorities to make sure that he or she can limit to a year how long that passport is good for.

And I would remind members finally, as my time comes to an end, that I will be reintroducing International Megan's Law. It did pass when Howard Berman was chairman. We worked in a very bipartisan way. There was push-back from the Justice Department and others, which I find to this day absolutely appalling. ICE has done a wonderful job on a sporadic basis. When they know that someone is getting on a plane to travel to exploit children—and sex tourism is in ascendancy, not descendancy—they have advised countries of destination. In one case in California, it was known that a number of pedophiles were getting on a plane to go to Korea. Very fine officers in ICE notified Korea, and they said, no way, no way they are coming into Korea to exploit our children.

So knowledge is power. The International Megan's Law is a means of comprehensively doing this. This disparate provision of that, which Chairman Royce has kindly included as an—en bloc as part of an amendment, will at least give one tool to the Secretary of State to mitigate the damage done by these traveling pedophiles.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

We go to Mr. Gregory Meeks of New York.

Mr. MEEKS. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I want to voice my support for H.R. 2848, Department of State and Embassy Security Authorization Act. I also want to first make sure that I affiliate myself with the remarks of Mr. Smith, who I entirely agree with in regards to stripping this so that we are not exporting pedophiles and we are protecting our young people. I want to make sure that I let you know I agree with you very much there.

This bill provides critical support for U.S. diplomatic efforts around the world and critical programs that ensure our Nation remains strong internationally. What we spend on these efforts is a tiny percentage of our national spending, but yet it yields mightily in mighty, mighty results.

Our Nation is stronger because of the efforts that are funded in this bill. We know all too well these days that our Nation's diplomats are as much in harm's way as many of our military personnel, and I want to thank the chairman and the ranking member for moving forward measures in this bill to secure our diplomats in a bipartisan manner.

And I want to thank them also for advocating and keeping the committee's jurisdiction over this bill. No one knows the importance and the functions of the State Department and our Embassies and our democratic programs than the members on this committee. This committee hears it, this committee understands it, and so, therefore, it is right that this committee has jurisdiction over it.

In addition to security-related matters, I want to point out a couple of programs that I believe don't get enough recognition, but are important to our Nation's relationship building and democracy worldwide. This bill authorizes educational and cultural exchange programs, which do an excellent job of promoting U.S. interests abroad in a way that increases the understanding of America and our values. I have hosted many delegations of officials, civil society, civil servants, students, and many other groups from around the world under the auspices of these programs. Just last week I had the pleasure of being shadowed by Lloyd Hussein of the United Kingdom through a State Department exchange program. I can't say enough about what this kind of interaction does to build understanding, partnership, and having us working together.

Let me also mention that the National Endowment for Democracy, of which I used to sit as a board member, is authorized in this bill. It is also a program I cannot say enough about. Just about anywhere globally that people aspire to democratic governance, NED is there to provide technical assistance and support.

Mr. Chairman, Mr. Ranking Member, I thank you for your efforts on these and many other measures in this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

We now go to Mr. Steve Chabot of Ohio.

Mr. CHABOT. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I will be very brief.

Those of us who have served on this committee for a number of years, I think, know that for a long time we struggled on this side of the aisle and that side of the aisle to get our act together. We have done that now. We passed one in the last Congress. Unfortunately, the Senate and this House couldn't get the two bodies together to actually pass something.

The Foreign Affairs Committee both over here and over there would be much more relevant, much more significant, much more important if we could do that now, the two bodies together, just as this committee has now done in a bipartisan manner. So I would strongly urge members, if they have connections, colleagues over in the other body, we ought to be talking to them, too, because I think it would be very important to our country if you could have the two bodies get together.

This is a well-crafted bill, it is a fiscally responsible bill, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Your point is well taken, Mr. Chabot. Mr. Engel and myself are engaged, and I again stress that I think we have got a much more promising outlook in the Senate this year for passage and conference with this legislation.

We will now go to Gerry Connolly of Virginia.

Mr. CONNOLLY. Mr. Chairman, thank you, and, you know, as somebody who used to write bills like this, and having helped write the last foreign aid authorization bill to become law, which was in 1986, I know how hard this can be. And I commend you and the ranking member, Mr. Engel, for your leadership and our staff, our collective staffs, for being able to pull us together.

A couple years ago we had 2 very hot summer days and well into 2 summer nights marking up the State Department bill, and it was an exercise that maybe made us feel good, but it was doomed to failure and died of its own weight. This is a good example of coming together and legislating, and legislating to create some common good.

I particularly want to commend my colleagues and the leadership for how we are dealing with Embassy security. Instead of pontifi-cating, instead of making political points, we are trying to legislate, we are trying to make our Embassies more secure, and we are trying to create a process for doing that, and I think that is a real contribution to the subject.

So thank you, Mr. Chairman and Mr. Engel, for your leadership, and I look forward to supporting the legislation.

I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. We go to Judge Ted Poe of Texas.

Mr. POE. Thank the chairman, especially for putting this bill together so that Congress can do its part when it comes to oversight and authorization. The bill shows the seriousness of the committee.

I would also like to thank the chairman for his support for adding stronger language about making sure that we are getting results from our programs.

The bill provides congressional authorization for the Center for Strategic Counterterrorism Communications. The Center's job is to coordinate our Government's messaging against terrorists throughout the world. For Congress, authorizing the creation of a new organization doesn't end with a vote. Our new language requires the State Department to establish measurable goals, performance metrics, and strict monitoring and evaluation. This will help the Center and Congress evaluate and learn what has taken place. We need to support the programs that are bringing results and get rid of the ones that aren't. I hope we can do this across the board with foreign aid.

H.R. 2638, the Foreign Aid Transparency and Accountability Act, the lead sponsor is my, as I affectionately say, greatest irritant, Mr. Connolly from Virginia—

Mr. CONNOLLY. You don't mean that.

Mr. POE [continuing]. This bill requires monitoring, evaluation, and transparency of all our foreign aid programs, and I thank him for the work on this. Last year's version passed the House unanimously, and I hope we can do the same this year with the committee and the chairman's support. I thank the chairman for including the language, and I am pleased for his support.

I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

We go now to Congressman Bill Keating of Massachusetts.

Mr. KEATING. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. First of all, I would like to thank the chair and the ranking member for including in the en bloc package my amendment dealing with educational cultural exchange. As we are seeing, conflict and civil strife are not restricted to countries in transition or emerging governances.

My amendment would ensure the State resources are adequately expended to programs that serve areas of continued unrest. It is in these sometimes volatile regions that educational cultural exchanges are the most critical in promoting democracy building and stability. So I would like to thank the chair and ranking member for that.

Secondly, I intended to offer an amendment to deal with the impact of extremism on women in high-risk countries. This would help ensure that the State Department works to counter extremist rhetoric and behaviors, and as they do this, they will also work to promote women's education and positions in society as a tool to counter extremism.

Women are uniquely positioned to counter radicalization both at home and in their communities, and are a vital component of counterterrorism efforts. Further, the treatment of women in countries experiencing a political transition can serve as a bellwether for extremist policies to come. In some ways this can even be more telling than what the actual leaders of countries may be saying to U.S. officials.

The promotion of women's education and civic engagement should be at the forefront of much of what we have to do in fragile and transitioning states. Social and legal institutions still do not guarantee women equality and basic legal or human rights. Furthermore, laws against domestic violence are often not enforced on behalf of women.

More women than men live in poverty, and approximately two-thirds of the illiterate adults in the world are female. Social and legal institutions still do not guarantee women equality in basic legal and human rights; access to or control of other resources in employment, earnings, and social and political participation. Furthermore, laws against domestic violence are often simply not enforced.

Women are subject to different forms of violence globally, physical, sexual, psychological, and economic, both within and outside their homes. Rates of women experiencing physical violence at least once in their life can vary from several percent to over 60 percent depending on the region in which they live.

Flowing from this discussion of the amendment, it is now my understanding that the committee is willing to instead hold a first-of-its-kind hearing on this subject in the near future. As such, I withdraw my amendment today, and I look forward to working with the chairman—thank the chairman and the ranking member and their staffs—and other members of the committee to further promote by holding an entire hearing on strengthening the role of women in an effort to counter the effects of violent extremism. So I withdraw my amendment and thank the chairman and his staff, the ranking member and their staff, for holding a first-of-its-kind type of hearing in the near future.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman ROYCE. Well, I appreciate the gentleman's cooperation and support for the underlying bill. And Mr. Keating raises a very important issue. Women all over the world face incredible oppression, and this is an issue that Mr. Keating and I have talked about, what we see today or have seen in Mali, for example, what we have seen in the Middle East, parts of Asia, and I look forward to continuing to highlight this with a forum to do so, because you are absolutely right, as we have discussed. And I appreciate one more time the gentleman from Massachusetts' support for the underlying legislation.

We will go down to Mr. Duncan of South Carolina.

Mr. DUNCAN. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I want to just reiterate my thanks to you and the ranking member for your work on H.R. 2848.

I want to specifically talk about an amendment in the en bloc, number 23. In February, the State Department requested $900 million for a brand new Foreign Affairs Security Training Center, and the State Department has indicated that it will work with the Department of Homeland Security to evaluate whether any training capacity for State Department personnel is available at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center, or FLETC, which is one of several FLETC facilities nationwide.

I act as chairman of the Oversight Subcommittee of the Homeland Security Committee, and I have worked closely to consider the capabilities of FLETC, and in May I led a subcommittee site visit to the FLETC facility out in Maryland. As a component of DHS, FLETC serves as an interagency law enforcement training organization for all Federal departments; three branches of the government; State, local, rural, tribal, territorial and international law enforcement agencies.

This training ranges from basic programs like the criminal investigator training program to advanced training programs such as cyberterrorism, financial forensics, and money laundering training. FLETC has the current capacity and capability to train and take on training of State Department personnel without State Department building a brand new, expensive facility.

So I want to urge my colleagues to support the swift passage of H.R. 2848, and with that I will yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank the gentleman.

We go now to David Cicilline of Rhode Island.

Mr. CICILLINE. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I want to begin by echoing the remarks of my colleagues and recognizing the strong bipartisan manner in which we are marking up this State Department authorization legislation, and note my appreciation for the inclusion of some of my proposals among the bipartisan amendments accepted in the manager's package. I thank Chairman Royce and Ranking Member Engel for their leadership.

United Nations peacekeeping troops support the U.S. principles of peace and democracy around the world; however, in the current fiscal climate, our peacekeeping budgets often fall short of the needs on the ground. This problem is exacerbated by the fact that our fiscal calendar and that of the United Nations are not synchronized. As a result, we are forced to engage in complicated accounting transactions to pay our peacekeeping bills on time, even when the Congress has appropriated enough money to pay those bills.

That is why I, along with Ranking Member Karen Bass, proposed an amendment to provide the State Department additional flexibility to pay its bills to the United Nations from appropriated funds. The amendment is budget neutral and focuses on addressing only the issue of flexibility. It is not providing additional funds to the U.N.

We can and often do disagree about appropriate funding levels, but we should all agree that if we appropriate money for peacekeeping, we ought to make sure it gets to where it needs to go, and that it gets there on time. And both Congresswoman Bass and I both appreciate the inclusion of this proposal in the manager's amendment.

I also appreciate the inclusion of a technical change to protect the integrity of our Foreign Service by clarifying a provision in the bill that would allow open positions to be filled by non-Foreign Service officers in time of need. I support the provision in the bill, and my amendment will make it clear that this allowance is merely temporary.

The men and women of the Foreign Service, like their brothers and sisters in the military, serve overseas in war zones and dangerous places and sometimes even make the ultimate sacrifice. Foreign Service officers and their families suffer from exposure to tropical diseases, and the assignment to countries with inadequate healthcare systems and potential exposure to crime, violence, civil unrest, and warfare. Throughout their careers serving our country, they amass a great deal of experience, and it is in our best interests to continue to leverage their expertise when possible.

Finally, as we discuss the operation of our State Department for next year, I would like to specifically note the work that the U.S. Department of State and our Foreign Service officers around the world are doing to protect and promote the human rights for individuals globally, including lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender persons. I recognize their good work and encourage them to build upon it today, because there is a severe cause for concern. Just in the past month LGBT individuals have been brutally tortured and killed in Cameroon, attacked and arrested in Russia, and harassed and abused in Jamaica. And I am sorry to say that the list goes on and on.

Yet despite these challenges, remarkable progress is being made to ensure that, as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights states, all men are born free and equal in dignity and rights, regardless of where they born or where they live. The United States has long stood as a beacon of freedom for all, and we have defended those freedoms here at home and, importantly, around the world; freedom and equality for women, for children, for religious, racial, and ethnic minorities, and for LGBT individuals.

There is much more we can do, and I encourage the dedication of additional resources and support to protect these basic human rights, for regardless of one's personal views, we can all agree that no one should be targeted or attacked or killed on the basis of sexual orientation or gender identity. I am proud the State Department under Secretary Kerry is continuing to expand and develop its work in this important area, and I look forward to working with this committee moving forward to ensure we are providing the necessary support, guidance, and pressure on human rights issues.

I am very pleased by how much we have accomplished over the last few years, and I want to thank our chairman emeritus, Ileana Ros-Lehtinen, for endless support of the LGBT community and her willingness to work across the aisle. Her commitment and leadership has helped grow bipartisan support for these issues.

I look forward to working with Chairman Royce, and Ranking Member Engel and members of this committee to elevate the importance of human rights of LGBT individuals internationally, and for continuing a formal dialogue with the State Department in a bipartisan manner to protect human rights for all.

And I thank you, Mr. Chairman, and yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

We go to Scott Perry of Pennsylvania.

Mr. PERRY. I thank you, Chairman Royce and Ranking Member Engel. We appreciate this, and I appreciate this opportunity and your diligence in bringing this to the floor.

In the wake of the security incident at the State Department facility in Libya last year, it was brought to this committee's attention that future Accountability Review Boards should have more flexibility and clear guidance to make disciplinary recommendation, but these fixes would require change to the ARB's authorizing statute. So I, with the capable help of the gentlelady from New York, Ms. Meng, have drafted an amendment that does just that. And with this bipartisan legislation, if an ARB finds that a State Department employee's unsatisfactory performance or misconduct has significantly contributed to a security incident, the ARB can recommend that the employee be disciplined appropriately.

While we certainly understand the vast majority, the vast majority, of State Department employees are capable and dedicated public servants, the ARB should be given more leeway to recommend disciplinary actions and clear guidance for doing so.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman, and I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. We go now to Mr. Juan Vargas of California, or was Mr. Ted Deutch seeking recognition first? Mr. Ted Deutch of Florida.

Mr. DEUTCH. Thank you. Thank you, Chairman Royce, and I want to thank you and Ranking Member Engel for working together to put forth a bipartisan State authorization bill that keeps intact the ability for the United States to continue to engage around the world, while preserving our national security interests and protecting the brave men and women of the Foreign Service. They are the ones who walk the streets in cities around the world, often in volatile and hostile places, day after day, talking face to face with people, sharing American values and American ideals.

I am pleased to see that that bill includes much of the ranking member's Embassy Security Act that will help ensure that our diplomatic facilities and our diplomats are protected.

The devastating cuts put forth in this year's State foreign ops appropriations bill would greatly hinder the State Department's ability to engage both bilaterally and multilaterally. This bill ensures that the United States can continue to keep our commitments to international peacekeeping and international organizations.

We must promote American engagement. As ranking member of the Middle East Subcommittee, I would urge my colleagues to support the strong role that the United States must play throughout the world and promoting American ideals. We have to continue to actively promote our priorities of human rights, of democracy, and of equality.

I know, we all know, that we have to make difficult choices during these tough budget times, but reducing America's role in the world, particularly when the International Affairs budget only makes up less than 1 percent of the Federal budget, is not only devastating to our allies, but, most importantly, it is devastating to our security interests and our security interests around the world.

So, again, I want to thank Chairman Royce and Ranking Member Engel for working to preserve those efforts. I appreciate the time, and I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Deutch.

Mr. Juan Vargas of California.

Mr. VARGAS. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman. I, too, want to thank you and the ranking member for all of the hard work that you have put into this bill, especially for the security of our Embassies. So I won't go and repeat everything that has been said, but I do want to thank you very much.

I do want to ask a question, however, that came up since we have been here, and this is under Title II, subtitle B, section 212, Border Crossing Fee for Minors. I am not sure who would be the appropriate person to ask this question.

Chairman ROYCE. I would probably be the appropriate person at this time, Mr. Vargas. Go ahead.

Mr. VARGAS. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I would ask, then, the border crossing fee for minors, does it apply to both borders equally, the northern border and the southern border? I represent California, the southern border, as you know, and would like to know if this fee is a fee that is collected at both borders, and if not, why not?

Chairman ROYCE. I am going to say that as I reference that, what we have included in the measure is the request from the administration, and, of course, the issue goes to the machine-readable U.S. border-crossing ID card. And just as in previous years, the State Department requests the change, in this particular case we are acting at their request, because the cards now include more premium features, and this change simply allows them to recoup the costs. Or they don't recoup the costs, but they would recoup a larger percentage, as I recall, of the cost, a greater proportion, for providing the service.

So I think the question would go to if this is a service provided uniquely to the southern border, then that is why the language might only—as you have pointed out, might only reference the southern border. We are in the process right now of checking to see if that feature is also used on the border, northern border, and if so, then we would concur with you, I think, that we would want to make an identical change to the northern border.

If you will give me a few more minutes, I think we will have the opportunity to review the issue with State and whether it is equitably done. I will assure you this: We will work with you to get that equitable resolution to the problem before this goes to the floor, if that is—if that meets with your accord.

Mr. VARGAS. Absolutely. And again, I thank you very much for looking at that issue, and again, I thank you so much for your hard work on this bill.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Vargas.

Mr. VARGAS. Thank you, sir.

Chairman ROYCE. And I believe Mr. Brad Schneider was seeking recognition next.

Mr. SCHNEIDER. Thank you, Chairman, and I will be brief as well.

I want to thank the chair and ranking member for bringing this important piece of legislation to the committee for consideration. I will repeat what has already been said, that this is a good bill. The legislation not only authorizes funds for the Department of State, but also addresses many of the pressing needs our Embassies and consulates around the world have, particularly updating, upgrading necessary security.

The important provisions in this bill will provide funding for the essential work that is performed by our Foreign Service officers and diplomats, and also create a reinforcing system of security to ensure their continued safety.

We cannot, in fact we must not, sacrifice our engagement in the world under the guise of fiscal prudence. This bill strikes a responsible balance between physical security needs of our diplomatic facilities around the world without overly burdening our extremely talented Foreign Service corps with rules and regulations that would otherwise restrict their ability to perform their important work.

I did want to thank the committee for addressing these critical needs, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Chairman ROYCE. I thank the gentleman.

Any other members seeking recognition at this time?

Yes. Grace Meng of New York.

Ms. MENG. I would like to thank Chairman Royce, Ranking Member Engel, and their staffs for all your hard work on today's important legislation. I specifically wanted to thank you for agreeing and working to incorporate the Perry-Meng amendment into this year's State Department authorization bill.

This past December an Accountability Review Board, or ARB, was convened to assess the State Department's policies and response to the attack in Benghazi. However, under the current authorizing statute, an ARB can only recommend disciplinary action against the State Department employee, where there has been a "breach of duty," a standard which is held very high and very hard to understand. As a result, the Benghazi ARB was unable to recommend disciplinary action against even a single State Department employee.

The Perry-Meng amendment changes that. By lowering and clarifying the standard by which future ARBs can recommend disciplinary actions, our amendment will ensure greater accountability and responsibility at the State Department in the years to come and prevent future Benghazis.

I thank the committee for its consideration, and I hope we can continue to move forward in a productive, bipartisan fashion on this and other issues.

And I yield back my time.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you very much, Congresswoman.

We will now go to Lois Frankel of Florida.

Ms. FRANKEL. Thank you, Mr. Chair, and—

Chairman ROYCE. And then—okay, very good.

Ms. Frankel.

Ms. FRANKEL. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Thank you also to the ranking member and yourself for this bipartisan effort. And I want to thank Mr. Waddell for working on a provision that you have included in this bill.

One of the privileges of being on this committee has been the opportunity to meet many of our Ambassadors, our own Ambassadors and Ambassadors from other countries. And I think many people don't realize how professional and competent and dedicated these folks are.

When we had the hearings on Benghazi, one of the recommendations of Secretary Clinton, once we asked, you know, what she would recommend to make the security better for our diplomats, is she asked for more flexibility in terms of best-value contracting. And that is provided for in this main bill, and I want to again thank Mr. Royce and Mr. Engel for including that.

And I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

Are there any other members seeking recognition?

I think we have Alan Lowenthal of California.

Mr. LOWENTHAL. I just want to concur with what everyone else has said. You know, as a new Member to the Congress, it is in an environment that has been, I think, aptly described as highly partisan. This committee is not that way. This committee is bipartisan, works well together. The Security Authorization Act reflects that. And I want to really thank the chair for his leadership on Vietnamese human rights actions. It has been wonderful working with the chair, and I just really wish to thank him and Mr. Smith also. Thank you so much.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Lowenthal.

Any other members seeking recognition?

Mr. Joaquin Castro from Texas.

Mr. CASTRO. Thank you, Chair, and again, let me say thank you to the chairman and the ranking member for your leadership on this bill and for doing everything that we can to make sure the State Department has the resources it needs to effectively do diplomacy around the world.

I would just echo also Congressman Vargas' concern on section 212 on the border-crossing fee for minors and note that it is a jump of about 500 percent on that card. I hope that, as you mentioned, Chair, that we can work together to make sure that that cost is spread evenly, if there is a card that is issued on the northern border or a card that is issued to folks of other countries as well.

Chairman ROYCE. I concur, Mr. Castro, absolutely, with your point. We will get together.

Mr. CASTRO. That is an important thing, particularly for folks in border communities where you have literally millions of people crossing back and forth every year, mostly for the purposes of commerce, and essentially helping to support the many American businesses along the U.S.-Mexico border. So thank you very much.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

Any other members seeking recognition?

If not, the question occurs on agreeing to the amendments being considered en bloc.

All those in favor, say aye.

All those opposed, no.

In the opinion of the Chair, the ayes have it, and the amendments considered en bloc are agreed to.

Are there any further amendments?

Hearing no further amendments to this measure, the question occurs on agreeing to H.R. 2848, as amended.

All those in favor, say aye.

All those opposed?

In the opinion of the Chair, the ayes have it, and the bill is amended as agreed to, and without objection, H.R. 2848, as amended, is ordered favorably reported and will be reported as a single amendment in the nature of a substitute.

Also, without objection, staff is directed to make technical and conforming changes, and the Chairman is authorized to seek House consideration of this legislation under suspension of the rules.

And I want to again thank Ranking Member Engel and all of our committee members for their contribution to this important legislation, and their assistance in today's markup.

So the committee at this time stands adjourned.

[Whereupon, at 11:20 a.m., the committee was adjourned.]
